

A photograph of a rural village with several traditional huts made of mud and thatch. The huts are situated on a raised bank overlooking a large, shallow body of water, likely a flooded field or a reservoir. The water is dark and contains some green vegetation. In the foreground, there is a large, dense clump of green reeds or grass. A few people and a cow are visible near the huts. The sky is overcast and grey.

Report of the Special Committee on Environmental Cooperation for Iraq

March 2006

Special Committee on Environmental
Cooperation for Iraq

Report of the Special Committee on Environmental Cooperation for Iraq

March 2006

Special Committee on Environmental Cooperation for Iraq