

Contents

○Annual Report on the Environment in FY 2005

Part One: Overview

Overview 1. Population Decline and the Environment

Introduction	2
Chapter 1. Environment in the Declining Population Era
Section 1. Demographic Trends and the Environment	4
Section 2. Uneven Regional Population Distribution and the Environment	8
Chapter 2. Creating a Sustainable Society Compatible with a Dwindling Population
Section 1. Opportunities for Creating a Sustainable Society	15
Section 2. Initiatives Started for Creating a Sustainable Society	18
Conclusion	20

Overview 2. Fifty Years of Minamata Disease, Origin of Japan's Environmental Problems

Section 1. What is Minamata Disease?	21
Section 2. Emergence and Expansion of Minamata Disease	21
Section 3. Remedies for the Harm Caused by Minamata Disease	22
Section 4. Projects for Addressing Environmental Pollution	23
Section 5. Toward Revitalizing Local Communities and Transferring Valuable Lessons	23

Part Two

Current Environmental Issues and Government Environmental Conservation Measures

○Environmental Conservation Measures to be Implemented in FY 2006