

7th International Symposium on Environmental Endocrine Disrupters

Tuesday, March 9, 2004
Environmental Health and Safety Division,
Ministry of the Environment
Director : Kazuhiko Adachi
Assistant Director : Kojiro Nogami
Section Director: Hiroyuki Hori
Officer: Yasuhiro Tanabe
TEL : +81-3-5521-8261
FAX : +81-3-3580-3596

OVERVIEW

7th International Symposium on Environmental Endocrine Disrupters will be held for three days, beginning December 15th 2004, at Nagoya Congress Center under the sponsorship of Ministry of the Environment.

Dates: December 15(Wednesday) to December 17 (Friday), 2004

Venue: Nagoya Congress Center

1-1 Atsuta-nishimachi, Atsuta-ku, Nagoya, Aichi, 456-0036, JAPAN

Organizer: Ministry of the Environment, Government of Japan

Language: Japanese and English

Objectives (draft):

- To share information concerning initiatives taken by various countries of the world for dealing with endocrine disrupters-related issues;
- To discuss the direction of future research on endocrine disrupters through international cooperation; and
- To provide an opportunity for an exchange of opinions on chemicals that various stakeholders (e.g. general public, NGOs, technical experts, industry and government) may have.

Speakers (tentative):

Approximately 50 speakers (researchers, administrative officers) will be invited both domestically and abroad.

Guests:

Approximately 1000 guests (researchers, administrative officers, and the general public) will attend daily.

Scheduled Programs:

December 15: Program open to the public

December 16 and 17: Program for experts

Notes: Further information regarding the programs and participation registration is planned to be released in this August.