

Contents

Annual Report on the Environment in FY 2002

Part One

Local Communities Leading the Transition to a Sustainable Society (Overview)

Introductory Chapter: State of the Global Environment and the Development of Individual and Community Efforts

Section 1: State of the Global Environment and Society .....2

Section 2: Building of a Sustainable Society from Individual and Community Efforts .....4

Chapter One: Actions Taken by Individuals towards the Building of a Sustainable Society

Section 1: Changes in the Socio-economy that Affect the Actions of Individuals .....5

Section 2: Environmental Load from the Daily Life of Every Individual and Effects of Various Efforts .....8

Section 3: Great Possibility Arising from Individual Efforts .....10

Section 4: Changes in the Socio-economic System Arising from the Interaction between Individuals and Other Actors ...13

Section 5: New Developments towards a Sustainable Society .....16

Chapter Two: Aiming at a Sustainable Society through Local Actions

Section 1: Environmental Conservation Efforts in Local Communities .....18

Section 2: Local Characteristics Defined by Actors and Infrastructure Comprising Local Communities .....20

Section 3: Nurturing the Local Environmental Capacity through Acquiring an Accurate Picture of Local Resources and Partnership among Actors .....22

Section 4: Scope and Effectiveness of the Effort that Utilizes the Local Environmental Capacity .....25

Part Two

Current Environmental Issues and Environmental Conservation Measures by the Government

Measures to be Implemented in FY 2003