

Welcome to Shinjuku Gyoen National Garden

The present site of Shinjuku Gyoen was originally one part of Edo residence of the Lord Naito, the vassal of Ieyasu Tokugawa. In the Meiji era, it became an agricultural experiment station, and then in 1906 it was made into an imperial garden. After the war in 1949, it was opened to the public as a national garden. The garden contains three styles, Landscape Garden, Formal Garden, and Japanese Traditional Garden, and is considered to be one of the most important modern western style gardens in the Meiji era.

Let's cool off at Kyu-Goryo-Tei

Kyu-Goryo-Tei is a building given by Japanese people in Taiwan to commemorate the wedding of Crown Prince Hirohito, who became Emperor Showa. The building was originally designed to cool off while walking in the garden, and looking at the Japanese garden, you can feel the cool breeze.

Experience COOL SHARE

Although Shinjuku Gyoen is located in the middle of Tokyo, "cool island phenomenon", in which temperatures are 1 to 3 degrees lower than the city center, is considered to occur.

This phenomenon is expected to provide cool air to the city.
