

KIZUNA MESSAGE for Biodiversity

In Japanese, "KIZUNA" means emotional ties.

Origami Green Wave

Conference Program of the Japan Pavillion.

Monday, June 18, 2012
12:45-14:15

JAPAN PAVILION
multipurpose space tent

Presentation

Earthquake Restoration and Biodiversity

We will introduce the efforts of Japan in line with the lessons learned through the earthquake in Eastern Japan, as well as Japan-born projects and efforts directed toward the world.

Message

Children's Promise to the Future

Representative children from each of the countries visiting the affected area, and a representative from the children living in the affected area, will make a "Promise to the Future" regarding certain actions that could be taken for biodiversity and a sustainable future, and send it out to the world.

Let's Join

Origami Green Wave

An all-hands event will be held featuring the traditional Japanese craft of "origami," which involves folding square pieces of paper to create animals, plants, etc. Each participant will fold an origami "tree" and write encouraging messages to the children of tomorrow.

Organized by

Japan Committee for UNDB

AEON

supported by

